HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER
HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the vehicles manufactured at his extensive
Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.
Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. B. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.
It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha, so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.
It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent heretofore considered the best in use.

UP THE COLUMBIA

[illegible]

The Dalles, which I am [illegible] I do not speak French [illegible] borrow Mr. Martial's [illegible] felicity, like a [illegible] to have my small dictionary and [illegible] Foreign Words and Phrases adapted [illegible] needs of Polite Society in my pocket [illegible] may be Spanish [illegible] like a plural, and I believe it means flag-stones, but the people of this country [illegible] singular verb) the Dalles is the town of second importance in Oregon. It is thus great because the miners of Idaho buy their [illegible] at its market and ship their gold from its wharves. Because it is ambitious and already bankers after a mint, but chiefly in my eyes, because it has such wondrous outlooks off river and mountains. At the Dalles we took to the railroad again. The favorite of Fortune once more triumphantly uncomfortables upon the cow catcher, and the hapless multitude inside the commodious and well appointed cars. Our way had been beguiled by cheerful tales of reckless travelers [illegible] insisting on riding in front of the engine were severally burned up, blown up, knocked off, boiled in hot oil, or sawn asunder in genuine apostolic fashion. Cylinderheads were proven to be as uncertain as stocks, and the thews, bulk and big assemblance of the huge, hulking, iron creature of more penetrable stuff than modern furniture. We pardoned the malcontents because our danger was so much more desirable than their safety. [I observe with regret that I have usually forgotten the sentiments and reflections it was my intention to introduce, so I hasten to set down a reflection.]

When we remember that envy is the subtlest flattery, we can easily forgive the envious.

Now, that I have cast my reflection, it seems painfully clear that something like it has been seen before. But I doubt whether wisdom ever seems wise to itself. And, Heaven be praised, I am not my own readers.

We were off after some delay, which we could account for only by the fact that the second town in Oregon felt that it was not a place to be disposed of in a minute, for there was no sign of business or occupation at the station, no effect of expected mail bags about the platform and no possible train or boat to connect with us. When dignity had been appeased, the engine flew out of the depot like an arrow from its bow, and when we had caught our breath from the mad wind that blew with such blind fury that it had not a whiff to spare for our poor lungs, and when we managed to open our eyes, which the same mad wind hammered down as with blows, we saw that the rocky way was wilder than ever, and the gorges more narrow and encroaching. Here the strange weather beaten weary looking old red rock came out again, looking amid the harder and more perfect cliffs, like a poor relation, pathetic but very seedy. Presently the high vast walls fell back, and then we were in the sand region. O how gray, and hot, and limitless it seemed to stretch to the right hand and to the left and straight on and far behind. No boundary save the narrow, choked-up river that bent and wound and struggled to be free of it, and complained in its rocky bed. Beyond the river sand again. The very heavens seemed to rain a sandy shower. The sifting wind blown grit swept over the track as if water overflowed it. Men with sand white beards and hair, in garments stiffened and white with sand, blindly delved along the road, shoveling and scraping and lifting away the sand that hid ties and rails and switches. They limped a step aside as we thundered by, moving like machines with creaking joints. Sand beat in our faces like sleet, filled our ears and necks, penetrated our shoes, filtered through our gloves, enveloped every separate hair with its hideous covering, blistered and scarified us.

Yet when our miserable eyes could blink and open for inconsecutive moments they saw what they will not see again this side the sea. The sky a pale blue, faded you fancied by this vast torrid radiating plain, the sun vailed, intense, colorless, the earth a desert. In Egypt you might have such another vision. The blankness, the desolation, the pause as if something great had been and was not, or as if something great were still to be, but was not yet,—it was solemn, strange, awful. Nobody dreamed of singing now. It would have been sacrilege to shout. We flew as we had flown before. The rush of it was as if the world itself were spinning at that mad rate. But we were no longer exalted, no longer jubilant. We seemed to be in a land of graves. As if millions and millions of men, as if whole nations, whole races had been buried there, and long forgotten. It was the abomination of desolations. For the buried life seemed to have been as bare as wretched as the places where it had dwelt. There was no element of joy, of peace, of satisfaction, of resignation in the whole. It was barren, barren, barren. So when the half hour was over, which had seemed a half year, and the fifteen miles were passed which had seemed a desert's reach, and we stopped in the shadow of the rocks again at last, we felt aged, and worn and sad, and wondered that we did not totter and creep like the melancholy veterans we felt ourselves to be.

We did not totter however, but found a use for the most efficient muscles we were so rich as to possess. For we had stopped at the edge of a steep bank that edged sharply away to the river and was paved with the most treacherous pavement of rectangular stones, that rolled and bounded like distracted globes the moment one's foot touched them, and led to such exercises in the art of balancing, as would have been creditable at a circus of the highest pretensions. We slipped and limped and stumbled to the foot, and then we tugged our weary way over the rocks without a cranny to cling to and slimy with the drip of water, and then we stood at the foot of the famous Salmon Falls.

Over jagged stones thrown on each other in a jutting wall twenty or thirty feet high and hardly forty feet wide, pours the great flood of the Columbia, with a roar and fury that drowns all other sound. We stood on separate points and tried to talk to each other in explicable dumb show and then we forgot to talk and only looked up the stream, through the fierce and sucking rapids white against the black stones that here and there tear the waters flush the swift strong glittering salmon. They come a few together, then a larger multitude, then the whole river from side to side is dark with their innumerable host. The indomitable creatures mean to go up the river to spawn, and they mind that precipice and torrent no more than if it were a Summer [illegible] within its little margent. They swim swift and stately to the very foot where you [illegible] them in the boiling white whirlpool. Something flashes in the air, elastic, strong, light. Something glides up the stream above the fall. The daring, determined, wonderful thing has made that leap, defied rock and torrent, and found its safe home in the smooth run beyond. Or there is the flash and then a struggle, and the poor bruised creature wounded to death against the sharp edged stones drops back into the stream and floats down a bloody track, dying after a little. [illegible] they come and come and come [illegible] them and leap and win or lose, for all the hours of the day and for half the days of the year.

All over the rocks at the foot of the Fall and along the stream below flutter the very scanty and [illegible] rags in which the Noble Savage invests minute and as it appears wholly accidental portions of his anatomy. I mention the rags first as being the least offensive object of the two. Anything more unromantic, more indecent, more unhuman, more loathsome than their wearer it has never been my lot to see. I do not know to what special Indian tribe these wretches belong, but of that tribe known through out the world as the genus loafer they were unique and perfect members. The salmon are their chief article of food. I believe, but long ere this they had speared and salted more than their most gluttonous appetite could crave, yet here day after day and month after month they came and lounged and speared fish for sheer wantonness [illegible] letting them drop back into the river, all [illegible] palpitating from the barb [illegible] other rocks [illegible] infect the air. Every stone was slippery with the decaying salmon. The sight disgusted and the stench sickened us all. The Noble Savage seemed to find it a congenial scene. Dirty beyond such possibilities of dirt as it enters into the heart of civilized man to conceive, diseased, beastly in habits, degraded in feature, attitude, bearing, vain of his squalid rags and tawdry paint, he is the most repulsive of those repulsive creatures whom in the prayer book—we call brutes. These creatures live on the outskirts of settlements, beg always, pilfer when they can and [illegible] all the vices of civilization known [illegible] of its vir[illegible]

[illegible] they were more depressing than the imag[illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] I was at [illegible] The [illegible] were [illegible] by [illegible] blank [illegible] they were [illegible] dreadfully [illegible] They were [illegible] perfe[illegible] [illegible] they blundered in an answer. They [illegible] fractions whereon [illegible] had at them [illegible] admiration for it as a thing [illegible] do. But they were as so many images pulled by a string. The lessons meant nothing to them. They had not an idea. Why you should divide a fraction they had no more notion than the Man in the Moon. Whereas I see a possible propriety in the impossible achievement which shows a superior mental endowment. Well as I was saying, all the individuality was ground out of the poor little puppets. After the geography lesson was written on them it was rubbed out as it were and a grammar lesson set down in the same place and then the surface was just as blank for the catechism, or the hymn. I don't believe that education agrees with the Indian blood. When you try to make him put on our ways he merely loses his own, and is more lazy and not less vicious.

I have seen at least fifty in my travels and I feel quite competent to write an essay on provisional races—with remarks on the aboriginal man.

It requires little skill but much cru—well call it nerve, to stab the beautiful salmon. They really seemed a higher creation than the Noble Savage. Our party did not slay many. And when we could no longer forget the dirt and the stench, and the creeping maggots and the discouragement of the human failure (in our short-sighted eyes) in the beauty of the river and the wonder of the fish we turned away and toiled up the bank again.

We found lovely agates among the big stones, such delicately veined and tinted things that we saw ourselves invested with ornaments for the rest of our days. But when we showed our treasures to a man who understood stones, he said they were chiefly pebbles and that "a bushel of 'em wouldn't make an agate," which was true, but entirely uncalled for, because nobody had hinted that a half bushel, or a quart of gravel, even, went to the composition of an agate.

We gave up the cow catcher—partly because of a morbid woe superinduced by Indians and sand, partly because the engineer assured us that the wind would "blow our eye winkers off" and personal considerations withheld us. So we came in the car, like your even Christian, back to the boat, and in the lovely morning, in the boat back to the cars, and so again by boat down the river that seemed more beautiful than ever after the desert, past Hood and Rainier, past Adams and Jefferson, under the sacred shadow of Mount St. Helen's, and so to anchor and to rest in our beloved Portland.

L. G. C.

A Scrap of Indian History

BY HON. J. ROMEYN BRODHEAD, LL. D.

The Marquis of Denonville, then French Governor of Canada, having resolved to attack the Western New York savages in the Summer of 1687, he went up the St. Lawrence with a Colonial force, to Cataraqui, or what is now known as Kingston. The French expedition proceeded along the southern shore of Lake Ontario, to keep the Iroquois doubtful which of their nations was to be attacked. After a week's coasting, it landed at "Ganning atorontagouat," or what is now called "Irondequoit Bay," in Monroe County, the literal meaning of which in English appears to be "Opening from the Lake."

Having palisaded their encampment, which was named "The Fort of the Sands," and garrisoned by 400 men, the French pushed southward along Irondequoit Bay through the superb "oak openings" of Monroe and Ontario Counties. After passing two defiles the expedition reached a third, near the Seneca village of Kohoseraghe, or St. James, not far from what is now Victor, in Ontario County. The Senecas had meanwhile sent away their women, children and old men to Cayuga, and to a lake "to the southward of their castles." About 500—among whom were several wives who would not leave their husbands—remained in ambuscade near Gannagaro, and, as the French came on, they received them with a war whoop and a fire of musketry. The European Regulars, unused to warfare with the American savages, were thrown into disorder. Instead of pushing on, as their Indian allies advised, the French halted on the battlefield. The next day, they marched into the deserted and burned village of Gannagaro. Two old Senecas, who had been left behind, were shrived by Father Bruyas, and then cooked and eaten by the French savages. All the maize that could be found was destroyed. Gandagarae, or St. Michael, was visited in the same manner. The invaders then moved their camp to the great Seneca village of "Theodehacto," or Totiakto, or Conception, on a bend of the Honeyoye creek, near what is now West Mendon, in Monroe County. Here a pompous "act of possession" of all the Seneca's lands "conquered in the name of His Majesty" was attested by the chief officers of the French expedition. At the gate of the small village of Cannounata, or Gannondata, near East Avon, in what is now Livingston County, were found the English arms which Dongan had caused to be placed there in 1684. After destroying all the Indian corn they could find, and a vast quantity of hogs, the French expedition returned to Irondequoit without meeting any more Iroquois warriors. Thus far Denonville had only irritated the Senecas, but had not humbled the brave red Americans, who had fatally disordered his disciplined European troops, whose wooden villages could soon be rebuilt, and whose yellow maize would spring again in quick abundance through all the fertile valley of the Genesee. If he had been a General he would have pursued the retreating Senecas eastward among the Cayugas and the Onondagas, and might have crushed the Iroquois. Instead of this he sent back a part of his force to Cataracouy and went with the rest to the east bank of the Niagara River, where he built a palisaded fort on the spot which La Salle had appropriated in the Winter of 1687, and had named the Fort Conty. It was "the most beautiful, most pleasing, and most advantageous site on the whole of Lake Ontario." An act was drawn up declaring that La Salle's previous possession was "reiterated anew" in the name of Louis. The fort at Niagara was mounted with some small ammunition, and the Chevalier de la Troye was left in command of the garrison of one hundred men, with the Sieur des Bergeres as his Lieutenant. Lamberville was appointed Chaplain. Denonville then returned to Montreal by way [illegible] where he left [illegible] in charge [illegible] Hist. [illegible]

CURRENT NOTES

The question of Indiana divorces is before the United States Supreme Court on an appeal, and [illegible] considered probable that full force will be given to the pernicious doctrine in all the States. As one of the causes for divorce allowed by the laws of Indiana is in effect the pleasure of the judge, it will become an easier matter to be divorced than to be married.

An [illegible] woman recently gave birth to a child during her husband's absence, and just before his return the neighbors borrowed two other babies and placed them in bed with the little stranger. When the father asked to see his child the coverlid was turned down, and although he must have been immensely surprised, he coolly turned to his wife and asked, "Did any get away?"

The new Navy Register for this year contains much interesting information on naval matters. Of eighteen hundred officers in the service not less than thirteen hundred and forty-five are on the active list, while of the balance two hundred and forty eight are midshipmen at the Naval Academy. There are one hundred and eighty-eight vessels of all kinds and classes, from ships of the line to the little torpedo boat laid up in this harbor. During last year fourteen vessels were sold and one (the steamer Maria) lost.

The Internal Revenue Department will issue an order in a short time prohibiting the importation of distilled spirits into Alaska and consequently its manufacture there until the necessary laws and other departmental machinery can be perfected in that district. This will be the first of a series of orders for the protection of the interests of that section. No action has yet been taken in Congress in reference to the protection of the fur trade, but some action may soon be looked for at the hands of the Senate Committee on Commerce on the subject.

Chicago has been punishing some of its thieves and ruffians lately, and their indignant accomplices threaten vengeance. To all which the Evening Journal responds: "Let but a hair of Judge McAllister's head be harmed, and within twenty four hours a Vigilance Committee of five or ten thousand good citizens would be sweeping through Chicago like a hurricane of [illegible] wrath. Every lamp post would be ornamented with a choked thief, and not a single ruffian would be left alive in all Chicago to tell how Judge Lynch succeeded Judge McAllister."

PERSONAL AND POLITICAL

The Legislature of Rhode Island has passed a bill providing that the election of Representatives in Congress shall hereafter occur in that State on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November.

J. J. Wright, a colored man, has been elected a Justice of the Supreme Court of South Carolina. The election was decided by the Democratic vote, a few of which were cast for Wright. Had they all (twenty) voted for a third party, it would have defeated the election.

An Illinois undertaker sent the following entertaining note to a sick man: "Dear Sir: Having received positive proof that you are rapidly approaching death's gate, I have therefore thought it not imprudent to call your attention to the enclosed advertisement of my abundant stock of ready made coffins, and desire to make the suggestion that you signify to your friends a wish for the purchase of your burial outfit at my establishment."

A writer in the New York Times furnishes a letter on the personnel of the Senate, from which we make this extract: "In chair No. 9 sits Senator George H. Williams, of Oregon. He is perfectly sound in all things, and may be said to be the strongest man from the Pacific coast. He is outlis hing in his duty, and untiring in his energy. He is quiet, and unostentatious, and is greatly esteemed. His was considered the ablest eulogy upon the departed Senator from Maine."

Mr. Jonathan Jenness, Jr., of Rye, N. H., who died on the 1st instant, aged 77, was in some respects a remarkable man. During his lifetime he had never been over 50 miles from home, never rode in the cars but once, never missed a State or national election since he became a voter, and never missed winding the eight-day family clock every Sunday morning for more than forty years. The Portsmouth Times says that he was consigned to the grave wearing the same pair of stockings that he wore when married, 54 years ago.

The Constitutional Convention of Tennessee has finally adopted universal suffrage, but with a proviso that may be made to bear [illegible] upon poor people, and which, in the hands of unscrupulous officers will be liable to gross abuses. It is to the effect that no man who has not paid up his poll tax to a certain specified time and can furnish satisfactory proof of this to the judges of election shall be admitted to vote. The State poll tax can be from $1 to $5, and the county will have the right to levy one equally as large, so that it will be seen that the payment of $10 tax may be required before any man can step up to the ballot box and deposit his vote.

Report on the Northern Pacific Railroad

From time to time we have published articles and extracts from articles on the proposed Northern Pacific railroad, of several members of the party who passed through Oregon last summer to make a reconnoissance of the route. The report of W Milnor Roberts, United States Civil Engineer, who accompanied the party, is probably the most interesting of all these documents. It gives a complete review of the country through which the route passes and ably presents the advantages for the construction and operation of a transcontinental railway. We intend to present our readers with some extracts from this report and shall introduce them with the following observations upon the Wallamet valley and Portland which were made by Mr Roberts as he saw our State on his overland journey from California

At the northern end of our journey, especially at the last hundred miles of the Wallamet valley approaching Portland, we were particularly struck with the beautiful appearance as an agricultural region already settled and cultivated far beyond our anticipations. Two railroads, one on each side of this great valley, are now in process of construction and the people of that region with good reason are confident that there will be business enough for both as rapidly as they can be extended. This splendid valley, with the aid of these railroads, will concentrate a large railroad trade at Portland, one of the western termini of the North Pacific road, which must tend to augment the business and population of that flourishing city, and thus furnish a valuable contribution to the business of the Northern Pacific railroad. The enterprising men of Portland, who, upon the occasion of our visit, gave us a hearty reception, and expressed the most lively interest in the success of the Northern Pacific Railroad, have, in the space of a few years, built an elegant city with all the modern appliances of water supply, gas, Nicolson pavements, handsome churches, stores, etc, as well as commodious wharves, at which we saw numbers of sea going vessels from foreign ports, and river and ocean steamers

We select the following in relation to the advantages offered by the Columbia river, which will be of interest in view of the recent announcement that the terminus of the Northern Pacific has been changed to this river from Puget Sound

I have devoted considerable attention to the reports and charts of the mouth of the Columbia river, and the adjacent coast on both sides In regard to the Columbia river, at and near its mouth, it may only be necessary to say in this place, in general terms, that it is entirely practicable to construct a railroad with easy grades and curvature, at moderate cost, from the Wallamet river down to any place that might be selected as a commercial terminus on the lower end of the river. Whatever difficulty sailing vessels may [illegible] sometimes in entering the mouth of the Columbia, on account of adverse winds, the San Francisco steamers experience none in making their regular trips between San Francisco and Portland, passing between the ocean and the Wallamet river via the Columbia river

It would consume too much space in this Report to present in detail all the knowledge acquired respecting the waters of Puget Sound, and of the lower Columbia river, in connection with proposed terminating points on the Northern Pacific Railroad. Without at present indicating any particular port as likely to be the best and most advantageous, it may be said that there is a choice of good sites for a large commercial city, such as must soon grow up at the terminal point of the Northern Pacific Railroad on the Pacific coast

Of the advantages offered in this section to those who desire homes the writer says

The opening of the Union Pacific and Central Pacific Railroads, forming part of the continuous railroad communication between the Atlantic and Pacific, is the signal for the commencement of the work which will open, at the earliest practicable moment, the direct line of Railroad by the valley of the Columbia to the Pacific tide water on the river and on Puget Sound. In my opinion this has settled the whole question, for it is only necessary that intelligent men should visit this portion of the Pacific coast to become impressed, as I have been, with its wonderful advantages,

A general description of the country from Portland to the head waters of the Columbia is presented in the report. The writer was impressed with the vast natural resources of the whole region, and viewing it as an engineer, was particularly struck with the feasibility of the route for the construction of a railroad. He presents a table of altitudes which shows how favorable the route is as compared with that traversed by the Union and Central Pacific roads. "The difference," he says, of five or six degrees of latitude is more than compensated by the reduced elevation above the sea level and the climatic effects of warm ocean currents from the equator." On this subject he sums up as follows :

The impression I would wish to create is this That a line can be so located between the valley of the Missouri and the mouth of the Columbia river, and to Puget Sound, which for the greater portion of the distance will not encounter any serious trouble from snow; and that in the passage of the Belt range, between the Yellowstone and the upper Missouri, in case that that route should be chosen, the crossing of the Rocky Mountains at Deer Lodge Pass, and of the portage between the Cowlitz river and Puget Sound, no greater obstacles from snow are likely to be met with than have already been encountered and overcome on roads in the New England States and in the State of New York It is the general impression in the States, an impression entirely natural, that the farther we go to the north the deeper the snow, but on this line the modifying and controlling influences of the mild climate which pervades the Pacific slope and the interior along this latitude, combined with the greatly reduced elevation of the range of country to be occupied, and the low summits of the back bone mountains to be passed tend to confirm the favorable statements, of intelligent gentlemen who have long been familiar with the regions in question I cannot hesitate, therefore, whilst fully appreciating the importance of the matter, to present to you confidently these views in relation to the probable snow difficulties along the proposed route of the Northern Pacific railroad

Of the value of the land grant and its utility in constructing the road Mr Roberts remarks

As a rule, all over this wide expanse of grass clothed plains and hills there is an inadequate supply of rain, although the droughts are never sufficient to destroy the bunch grass pasture and, as a rule, the soil is excellent, and in many places very rich, needing only irrigation There are, however numerous valleys with perennial streams fed from the Rocky Mountains containing land of the most fertile character already improved in various places and yielding abundant harvests Lands which if left without railroad facilities, might be allowed to remain forever as natural pasture will, when there are chances for shipment of the product by rail, be put under cultivation It is, therefore, safe to assume that the immense landed property of the company as a body, in connection with the valuable town sites and water powers will ultimately be worth much more than the entire cost of the railroad It should be borne in mind that where there are now only prairies subject to continual burnings trees will spring up and flourish hereafter when these lands become protected by cultivation The growth of trees on the Pacific slope is very rapid

We have presented enough of this interesting report to give a general idea of its contents The summing up is contained in the following paragraph

I would state as the result of these explorations and investigations after much reflection and fully appreciating the responsibility devolved upon me as the Engineer selected by you for the duty that the Northern Pacific Railroad route with the land grant secured to the company by the Government possesses great intrinsic value and will be as a whole a remarkably favorable line in all important respects and one which if judiciously located, honestly constructed and properly administered, will pay within a few years a fair dividend on its cost I had apprehensions that personal investigations might disclose material or possibly vital errors in some of the statements induced by former reports The result however, has been in the other direction and I am constrained by the facts to present an estimate of cost essentially lower than the previously submitted by the able Chief Engineer and I present it confidently as reasonable and reliable

Editorial Notes

It would be interesting to know if our Democratic brethren are really proud of the fact that Senators belonging to their party, protested and voted against the Oregon railroad land grant? What an inducement to send to Washington more Senators of the same kind!

The New York World marks out a programme by which it thinks its party can obtain the colored vote of the country, and gives its opinion that unless great mistakes are made by the Southern whites the Radicals will gain nothing beyond a transient advantage by universal negro suffrage. It seems that the "war of the races" about which we have heard so much is to be nothing but a race on the part of the Democracy for the negro vote

President Grant in his first annual message alluded to the pension laws thus "Public opinion has given an emphatic sanction to these measures of Congress, and it will be conceded that no part of our public burden is more cheerfully borne than that which is imposed by this branch of the service" It is estimated that the pension service of the coming fiscal year will demand an appropriation of thirty million dollars Each succeeding year the rolls have grown in size and expensiveness With the death of Bakeman last year, the last Revolutionary pensioner was stricken from the lists, but no less than 887 widows of Revolutionary soldiers are still there, and a most remarkable, and, indeed, marvelous circumstance, is that they diminished but by a single name in the twelve month Next, we have the list of pensioners namely 2 360 invalid soldiers and 1 298 widows and children for the wars prior to 1861 And, finally, we have our pensioners of the War of the Rebellion, who numbered on the 1st of July last no less than 187 963, and on whom was expended, including the wages of disbursing agents, $28,422,884

The temperance mass meeting at Salem was very largely attended. Another will be held on Saturday evening.

Miss Mary Alice Kincaid, sister of the proprietor of the Eugene Journal, died at Dansville, New York, on the 27th January

The Eugene Journal of last Saturday states that the steamer Albany went up to that place the first of the week and took down a full load of freight. Loading enough for several trips is still in readiness

On Friday last an infant child of Clinton Kelley, who lives about four miles south of Hillsboro, was terribly burned by crawling backwards into the fire At last accounts it was still alive, but no hopes were entertained of its recovery.

A Eugene paper, speaking of the railroad routes, says Hon Jesse Applegate, Engineer, has been instructed to survey a point up Stewart's creek, in Jackson county, and through a pass between Upper and Lower Klamath Lakes, which indicates that the road is to be built through the southern counties, even in case it is to connect with the Humboldt Road, which we hope is the case

From the Eugene Journal The Herald has just discovered that it is right for every one to have "good beef and bread" The fact that the Herald has just announced this principle, makes it appear that it has lately arrived at this conclusion Every body up our way have plenty of bread, and "good beef," judging it by its durability and qualities of elasticity The Herald is certainly very magnanimous on this point

From the Salem Press The total valuation of the taxable property in the State of Oregon, for the year 1868, was $26,746,854 25, and for 1869, exclusive of the counties of Baker and Union, not yet reported at the Secretary of State's office, $25,827,133 75. Adding to this the property valuation of Baker and Union counties for the year 1868, which is probably not far out of the way, the total valuation for 1869 is $26,913,791 75

We learn from a Salem paper that Governor Woods has pardoned Henry C. Vaughn out of the penitentiary, on a petition signed by 800 of the citizens of the State, living in Wasco, Umatilla, Union, Baker, Grant, Lane, Linn, Benton, Marion, Polk, Yamhill and Multnomah counties. Vaughn was sentenced to the penitentiary for life, from Baker county, for killing Frank Mattock, Sheriff of Umatilla county John O Cornet, sent from Benton county, for larceny, was also pardoned, on a petition of citizens in Polk county

The English papers occasionally indulge in a little enterprise Mr Bright's speeches at Birmingham were telegraphed verbatim in all directions and, although the principal speech was made in the evening the work of transmitting it was finished a little after midnight, and the number of words sent by the three telegraph companies was but little short of 100,000

Prince Paul Demidoff was the last distinguished owner of the great Sancy diamond which is now for sale by a Calcutta jeweler. It was found long ago on the body of the Duke of Burgundy, and was in 1619 bought by the King of Portugal who sold it to Nicholas de Barly, Baron de Sancy Sancy sent it to the king as a present by the hand of a servant, who, being attacked by robbers, swallowed the stone, which was after his death found in his body It finally came into the hands of James II, of England, who sold it to Louis XIV for £25,000

The London Times attempts to give an index each day of its contents, and we must suppose that there are individuals of leisure to whom the information is acceptable but it can hardly be worth the trouble An enterprising London firm kindly interposes for the rest of the journals, and publishes every day at noon a little paper of twelve pages, about the size of All the Year Round called The News List and Index In it is given a list of the subjects discussed by the morning papers the correspondence, reviews and intelligence The weekly papers and the magazines are dealt with in the same way The price of this curious little sheet is a penny

A child while playing near Drogheda, Ireland, found a curious piece of metal which she gave to an old woman, who took it to a dealer in old iron and got a shilling for it The dealer in his turn sold it for two pounds and a half and it has finally been purchased for the Royal Irish Academy in Dublin for £500 It proved to be the celebrated Tara Brooch, one of the most remarkable pieces of goldsmith's work known to exist It is formed of white bronze this probably saved it from the melting pot to which countless treasures of gold and silver have been consigned —the surface overlaid with gold filigree work of surprising intricacy and marvellous delicacy of execution Such is its excellence that one of the most accomplished living goldsmiths declared that he could not find a workman, with every apparent advantage of modern knowledge and appliance, competent to make such another

THURSDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 24 1870

CITY.

SUICIDE.—Mr James T Crump, of Salem, committed suicide at the Occidental Hotel yesterday morning by taking morphine. The discovery was made about ten o'clock that he had taken the fatal drug, and instant efforts were made to save his life, several physicians being called in, but though they tried all possible means, none were of any avail and death ensued about one o'clock P. M. Mr I R Moores, about the time mentioned above, received a telegram from Mr J N. Glover, of Salem, requesting him to find Mr Crump, if possible, as it was supposed he had committed suicide, he having written home that he intended to do so. Mr Moores went at once in search of him, soon learning that he was stopping at the Occidental Hotel. Going to his room, he found Mr Crump lying in bed undressed and insensible, whereupon he summoned medical aid with all possible haste, but as we have already said, without avail. It appears that Mr. Crump came to this city about two or three weeks ago in search of employment. He went afterward to Astoria, but returned again in a few days, having been unsuccessful. He found nothing to do here, expended what means he had, and became depressed in mind till he finally resolved upon self-destruction. He had been in business for several years at Salem, but had been unfortunate and had become bankrupt. He was married only a few months since to a beautiful and interesting young girl, a niece of Mr. Chas. Uselovage, of Salem. His domestic relations were of the most happy character, his troubles being altogether of a business sort. He was a young man very much respected and beloved by all who knew him, and there is no one in all the circle of his acquaintance but will charitably forget the errors into which he had recently been drawn, and which led to the sad result we have chronicled. The memories of him that will be cherished are those of the few short months ago, when he was the trusted business man, the pride of his family and the loved member of society. His faults were those only of indiscretion and will be kindly covered with the mantle of charity.

It was shown upon the inquest held yesterday that he purchased the fatal drug at the German drug store at the corner of First and Alder streets, about two o'clock yesterday morning. He was seen by various parties till after three o'clock. He probably took the morphine upon retiring to bed, about four or five o'clock, and had thus been under its influence not less than five hours. The physicians at once pronounced his recovery hopeless.

Dr. Poppleton, Coroner, called a jury and held an inquest, the following being the verdict arrived at:

We, the jury in the inquest just had on the remains of the man lying dead before us, do find that his name is James T. Crump; that he came to his death at the Occidental Hotel, in the City of Portland, State of Oregon, and County of Multnomah, on or about the hour of one o'clock P. M., this 23d day of February, A. D. 1870, and that he committed suicide by taking 12 grains of sulphate of morphia, or a large amount of that drug, a few hours before his death.

A. Wells, ... Mr. Clements, R. S. Knight, Wells, Fargo & Co.'s messenger and 12 in the steerage.

EAGLE BIRD.—Among the ornamentations of the Washington Guard's Armory—and, by the way, they are not a few—there is, an immense eagle perched over a national shield, at the farther end of the hall. The bird was killed somewhere near the city a week or two ago, and presented to the company. Mr. DuBois, an old taxidermist took off the skin, stuffed and wired it, and set it up in the position which it now occupies. At the ball the other night, it was the subject of much admiring comment. The Guard is deserving of the most unqualified praise for the spirit of liberality and the good taste they have displayed in fitting up their place. The armory is by far the prettiest hall in the city.

THE GREGORYS.—The Gregory family had another full house last night, to whom they furnished an ample bill of amusements. The remarkably intelligent dogs in their wonderful tricks, the trapeze performances by the Gregory brothers, the miniature circus, the crystal ball ... and posturing, the singing by Miss Bessie and the closing Pantomime of "The Village Tournament" were certainly enough for one night. The entire performance was received with applause or uproarious laughter. Some of the scenes were almost side-splitting. The same bill will be given again to-night.

A BEASTLY SIGHT.—One of the street sensations of yesterday was a negro man hauled off apparently lifeless and bloody, on a dray. Upon inquiry, however, we found that he was a compound victim of whisky and a punch in the snoot. He had got into a barber shop down town where he was raising a beautiful shindy. A white man coming in just at the moment, set his nose up, knocking him against a window, the glass of which cut his face and bled him profusely. He was hauled home in a state of insensibility, but was not, as we learn, much hurt.

THE RIVER OF THE WEST.—Mrs Victor's new book, "The River of the West," has been laid upon our table. It is a work of 602 pages, bound in leather, library form, illustrated with numerous engravings—scenes in the life of the Old Mountain Man, Jo. Meek, and of the early days of the settlement of Oregon. It is not only a handsome volume, but it really a readable, interesting book, and one which, we think will meet with ready sale.

SOMETHING NEW.—The bark James brought out a number of omnibus looking wagons, said to be the New York style of milk wagon. Are we now to have swill milk and chalk and water?

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT—DEADY, J.—Wednesday, Feb. 23. John R. Lamb et al vs G W Vaughn; the day consumed in argument upon the demurrer to the cross bill filed in the cause.

PERSONAL.—Dr J. R. Bayley, Supervisor of Internal Revenue for this district, is in town. Among others from abroad, we notice I. R. Moores President of the East Side Railroad Co., I. M. F. Patton, of Salem, Col. Cornelius, of the West Side Railroad C., O. Humason of the Dalles and S. A. Clarke of the Salem Statesman.

BOATS ON THE UPPER COLUMBIA.—We are informed that the steamer Tenino will resume her trips on the upper Columbia on Tuesday next, and will thereafter make two trips a week. Passengers for Umatilla taking the boats here on Mondays and Thursdays will make the connections through with no delay or stoppage.

CIRCUIT COURT—UPTON JUDGE.—In this Court yesterday, while the case of the State of Oregon vs A. J. Moses was in progress, Judge Upton received intelligence of the serious illness of a member of his family, whereupon the Court was adjourned till 1 o'clock P. M. to day.

HISTORY OF OREGON.—We learn by private letter from New York, that our old friend Mr Wm Gray is publishing his History of Oregon and that it will soon be issued. Mr Gray and his wife are expected here in a few days.

Temperance Meeting at Oregon City

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

In pursuance of a call signed by many of the most prominent citizens of Oregon City, for a temperance meeting, to be held at the Court House on the evening of the 22d of February, a very large audience of ladies and gentlemen assembled, filling the house to its utmost capacity.

Major Magone was chosen President. Messrs J. M. Bacon and Wm E. Howell, Vice Presidents and Mr James A. Smith, Secretary.

The Chairman stated the object of the meeting and in an eloquent and forcible manner, spoke of the debt we all owed to him whose 138th birth day we had met to celebrate, and the still greater debt that we all owed to ourselves, our common country and to posterity, and a debt that will never be paid until we rid this otherwise fair land from the crying evils of intemperance. He further said that no sectarian or political dogmas were known in this organization, and that people of every shade of political or religious views, who loved their race and despised the rum traffic, could worship at its shrine.

He was followed by the Rev. E. Geary, Rev C. W. Todd, Messrs. W. C. Johnson, D. C. Ireland, J. M. Bacon, W. E. Howell and Jas. A. Smith, every one of whom entered into the spirit of the meeting in a whole souled manner seldom witnessed upon such occasions.

From the beginning to close of the exercises, we were favored with choice music, both vocal and instrumental. Altogether it was the grandest demonstration in this great cause ever witnessed in this city. At the conclusion the pledge of total abstinence from all that can intoxicate, was presented and 106 signatures attached.

The meeting then adjourned, subject to a call of the officers.

OREGON CITY, Feb 23, 1870.

Examine the GROVER & BAKER before purchasing any other Sewing Machine; its advantages will be strikingly apparent.

INDEPENDENT GERMAN SCHOOL.—A meeting of German citizens will be held to-night at the Council Chamber, corner of Front and Alder streets, for the purpose of further deliberating on this subject.

COMPLIMENTARY AND CORRECT.—We find in the Albany Democrat of last Friday the following neat compliment and just commentary upon one of our well known Portland business men:

Persons desiring anything in the line of the business of Mr. Wm Davidson, Collector of Claims and Real Estate Dealer, Portland, could not do better than to secure that gentleman's services in the matter. He is prompt, reliable and efficient, combining eminent ability with the most polite and gentlemanly bearing, and his motto is never to fail in performing that which he undertakes.

CLOCKS! CLOCKS!—Everybody needs a good Clock. B. L. Stone has an inexhaustible supply because they keep coming as fast as he sells off. He has all kinds and sells so cheap that any one who wishes to buy cannot fail to be suited in price and quality.

RAILROAD MATTERS are very likely to be lively this spring. The East Side Company will engage a large force of men to complete their road to Albany, and the West Side Company will, very probably, build a portion of their road in order to obtain a land grant to facilitate the building of their line to McMinnville. Kohn & Fishel are keeping up with railroad times. Their stock of spring goods coming across the continent by rail will be the largest and finest stock of Clothing ever imported to this State. Their stock in store now is offered very low to make room for large arrivals. They are manufacturing the neatest Boys' Suits and always have on hand a large stock of the same which are offered at lowest figures.

VALUABLE.—The recent bill before Congress granting aid for the construction of a railroad from the Columbia river to Puget Sound, if passed will make the large tracts of coal and timber lands owned by the Puget Sound Homestead Association on the Skookum Chuck and Newaukum very valuable.

A few shares only remain untaken and can be had at the office of the Secretary or of Mr Conklin, Canvassing Agent.

REMOVAL.—J. W Campbell has removed his new Patent Bed Bottom manufactory to Messrs Jensen & Rethlefsen's Cabinet and Carpenter shop, southeast corner of Morrison and Fourth streets. Although but recently introduced, the Minnesota Bed Bottom is fast coming into general use and is giving general satisfaction. Come and see it. j29d1m

The Living Machine.
Injure the main spring of a watch and every portion of the works becomes disordered. The human stomach is to the human system what that elastic piece of metal is to a chronometer. It influences the action of the other organs and controls to a certain extent the whole living machine. The comparison may be carried further: for as the weakness of the main spring of a watch is indicated in the face of the timepiece, so is the weakness of the stomach betrayed by the face of the invalid. The complexion is sallow or faded, the eyes are deficient in luster and intelligence, and there is a worn, anxious expression in the whole countenance which tell as plainly as written words could do, that the great nourishing organ whose office it is to minister to the wants of the body and to sustain and renew all its parts, is not performing its duty. It requires renovating and regulating, and to accomplish this end Hostetter's Stomach Bitters may be truly said to be the one thing needful. The broken main spring of a watch may be replaced by a new one, but the stomach can only be repaired and strengthened and this is one of the objects of the famous vegetable restorative which for eighteen years has been waging a successful contest with dyspepsia in all climates. As a specific for indigestion it stands alone. When the resources of the pharmacopoeia have been exhausted, without, at best, doing more than mitigating the complaint, a course of this wholesome and palatable, yet powerful stomachic effects a perfect and permanent cure. In all cases of dyspepsia the liver is more or less disordered, and upon this important gland, as well as upon the stomach and bowels, the Bitters act with singular distinctness, regulating and re-invigorating every secretive and assimilating organ on which bodily and mental health depend.

Rumsey has recently patented an improved galvanized non-corrosive cast iron Pump, which is safe from rust. An improved Hand Fire Engine of great efficiency is also on their list. The machinery in Rumsey & Co.'s Factory is of the most efficient kind, much of it being of the own invention, and is driven by an unfailing water power. They are now building a new factory, 84x42 feet, 4 stories. When this is completed they will increase their working force to 250 hands. The business carried on by this firm was established by Rumsey about 30 years ago."—Iron Age, New York. d14dtf

HIRAM SMITH'S
Ophthalmic Panacea!
IS WITHOUT DOUBT THE MOST WONDERFUL EYE HEALER that has yet been discovered.
It CURES the most stubborn and hopeless cases of CHRONIC INFLAMMATIONS, GRANULATED LIDS, FILMS, &c., as has been sufficiently demonstrated during the few months to which it has been brought into public notice. The proprietor is so fully convinced of its INFALLIBILITY that he WARRANTS A CURE OR REFUNDS THE MONEY. It can do the eyes no harm, and a trial of it is therefore without injury or expense to the patient if a cure is not effected.
It has cured cases of FIVE, SIX, NINE, FIFTEEN, and even EIGHTEEN YEARS standing in Harrisburg, Linn county, Oregon, and its vicinity, to which the following persons will bear witness:

E. B. MOORE, NATHANIEL BELL,
A. L. WALLACE, G. R. WARD,
Mrs MONTGOMERY, JOHN M HOLLOWAY,
W. D. PORMAN, ROB'T RAMSEY,

And others in that vicinity.
Persons afflicted with the distressing scourge of diseased eyes are advised to give this remedy a fair trial on the NO CURE, NO PAY and NO INJURY plan.
Prepared by SMITH & ROACH, Harrisburg, Oregon.
SMITH & DAVIS, Portland, Oregon, General Agents, to whom all orders should be addressed, and for sale by all Druggists. feb21dawtf

A FEARFUL RESPONSIBILITY rests upon those charged with the care of children. the attack!
Mothers and Nurses, keep it by your bedside, and use it without fear upon the first symptom, and with a certainty of immediate relief! NEWELL'S PULMONARY SYRUP is confidently recommended as a SURE CURE for Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough, and all Pulmonary complaints. If you but try it, you will never wish to be without it. Jan31d2w2p

We respectfully refer to the following Card:
Having examined the New Patent Sinch or Belly Band Fastener invented by C. H. Horne of Astoria, Oregon, we take pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is one of the easiest, quickest and best method of tightening a saddle girth that has ever been in use. It also has an advantage over all others in use in being able to tighten your saddle girth without dismounting.

"LIFE ON THE OCEAN WAVE."—The story of the once popular and not yet forgotten song, "Life on the Ocean Wave," is thus narrated by the author, Epes Sargent, Esq., of Boston, in a letter addressed to Barry Gray, in 1858, in reply to a request that he would favor him with the story:

I will cheerfully answer your inquiry in regard to the song, though fearful that the facts may be of slender interest. Some sixteen years ago (1842) Mr. Henry Russell, the musical composer, asked me to write a song for him, leaving the subject to my own selection.

In a walk on the Battery, at New York, the sight of the vessel in the harbor dashing through the waters, in the morning sun-light, suggested the "Life on the Ocean Wave." I had finished it before my work was completed. I showed it to a friend, himself a song writer, whose criticism was that it was "a very fair lyric, but was not a song." Somewhat disheartened, I put it into my pocket, concluding that it might do to publish, but not to set to music.

A few days afterward I met Russell at Hewitt's music store, and showing him the piece, informed him, at the same time, that it would not do—that I would try again.

"Let us go in the back-room and try it on the piano," said Russell. We went. He sat down at the piano, placed the words before him, studied them for about five minutes, humming the measure as he read, then threw his finger over the keys, tried once twice, thrice, and finally exultingly struck out the present melody, to which the "Life on the Ocean Wave" is set. He certainly was not more than ten minutes about it; though he gave a day afterward to scoring and writing out the music. The song became immensely popular, and many thousands were sold before the year was out. In England, three different music publishers issued it in various styles. The parodies on it that have been sent to me I cannot undertake to number.—Home Journal.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

PORTLAND, Feb. 23, 1870.

Portland Legal Tender rates, 84⅛@84½. The above is based on private telegrams from San Francisco.

The general markets remain as last quoted.

American securities were quoted in European markets on the 5th inst. as follows: London—United States five twenty bonds, 1862, 87¼; 1865, old, 86¾; 1867, 86; ten forties, 84¼; Erie Railway shares, 20¾; Illinois Central, 104¾; Atlantic and Great Western, 26¾. Frankfort—United States five-twenties closed firm at 92½ for the issue of 1862.

As the export of specie to Europe governs to a great degree the condition of the general money market of the United States, it may be interesting to know how the export of this year compares with former years. The following is a comparative statement of the exports of specie from the port of New York to foreign ports for 18 years from Jan. 1 to Feb. 6, 1870, and for the corresponding period in the undernamed years:

1870	$2,952,194	1863	$6,093,775	1857	1,82,892 900
1869	4,211,543	1862	5,226,077	1856	564,447
1868	8,984,158	1861	304,580	1855	702,858
1867	3,445,141	1860	1,027,666	1854	2,045,043
1866	3,717,514	1859	4,237,063	1853	1,329,301
1865	3,758,402	1858	3,304,436	1852	5,065,727
1864	6,216,011

It will thus be seen that for 33 days of 1870, the exports were but little more than half what they were for the corresponding period of last year, less than one-third what they were in 1868, and less than in any year since 1861. This accounts largely for the greater general ease of the money market throughout the country.

The Corvallis Gazette has information from Yaquina Bay that business of all kinds is lively, and those that have felt down hearted and discouraged, are taking a more hopeful view of the bay and its future.

SHIPPING INTELLIGENCE.

A correspondence from Yaquina Bay says the schooner Champion is loading for Portland.

R. A. Bensell, of the Yaquina Bay Transportation Co., has returned from San Francisco, with the schooner William Irelan, Capt. Allen, which will ply regularly between that port and Yaquina Bay.

The steamship Ajax sailed this afternoon for San Francisco taking 965 tons of produce.

The Edward James is discharging cargo at the steamship dock. The most of her freight thus far has been turned out in good order.

EASTERN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—The Tribune, in an editorial on the losses sustained by grain-raising farmers during the past year, says:

"They have found partial compensation in the high prices realized for hogs, the receipts from this crop having saved many of them from bankruptcy. If hogs had been sold at prices corresponding to ... of wheat, there would have been widespread ... the West and all classes of business men would ... the effects. But the farmers have not made the ... out of the situation, though shrewd ... ordinary bargains. Encouraged by expectations of ... small crop, many of them bought pork as ... high prices to the full extent of their means, and ... had the satisfaction of settling ... more dollars per barrel, than losing ... made on the sale of their hogs. ... in pork has been much more lively this winter ... any former year since the close of the war, ... trading has been done for parties in the country. While this has benefitted commission men, and put money in the pockets of sharp ones here, it has not been ... to the interests of the farmers and drovers, ... they can afford to repeat the experiment."

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—It has been seldom in the history of New York that a week has closed upon an easier money market than to-day. First-class commercial paper has been taken at "old time" rates—from 6 to 7 per cent. and paper with single names from 7 to 8 per cent. On Government bonds money can be obtained on call at from 4 to 5 per cent, and on State and other good securities at 6 per cent. Not only in this city and at the East, where at this season of the year money has accumulated from the payment of dividends, but at the West and North-West money is abundant and easily obtained on good paper, and regular customers are well supplied at unusually low rates. We take it, this is evidence of a sound and healthy financial condition. If prices of some products at the West are low comparatively, so are also the prices of articles of our own manufacture the agriculturists buys in exchange for his pork, and beef, and wheat, and corn; and an inflation of the currency would not prove of any advantage to the millions of our land who have sheep, and cattle, and hogs, and grain to sell.

Gold sold to-day at the Gold Exchange at 120¼. One year ago to-day it sold at the same Exchange at 135¼, a reduction in price of 14¾ per cent. If, during the year, gold continues to go down at the same rate as in the past year, on the 5th of February, 1871, it will be 5.75, and this will bring legal tenders and National Bank notes so near to the value of gold that in our currency matters it would be but a single step to par. We are getting on very well, in paying our debt, in selling our gold that is not needed for any purpose in the Treasury, and the time is not distant when a Government bond, with 4 per cent. interest, payable quarterly in gold, will be at par in our market. The purchasers of United States 6s of 1881 only get 4 per cent. for their money; $180,000 of 10-40 6s were sold at a premium to-day of 13½ per cent. Capital with us is rapidly accumulating, and it will seek safe investment. The estimate of the Special Commissioner of Internal Revenue is, that we have "$545,000,000 of annual surplus of national production over national consumption." This is a sum equal to one-fourth of our interest-bearing national debt, and this sum each year is for investment. The financial heavens are clear to us, and with a wise and prudent policy at Washington, we cannot discern any storm in the future.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.—How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering but a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life destroying maladies see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his speciality for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.—Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, foetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of his complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their names in ... Look at the Directory of 1862 or 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry, which will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets, for, as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patient's letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, (Private Entrance on Commercial) San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 852 ON THE LETTER.
Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian. jy6d4ptf

What the Hon. W. T. Ballou says about the "King of Pain."

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7, 1869.

Dr. J. J. McBride—Having suffered with sciatic rheumatism some months, I was induced to use your "King of Pain." I take pleasure in recommending it to those afflicted with rheumatism. I know of several cases of neuralgia that have been cured by using it.

W. T. BALLOU, of Elko, Nevada.

Card from Harbor Master.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2, 1869.

To Dr. McBride—This is to certify that I have been troubled with neuralgia in my right arm and hand for the past three months, and although I have had medical advice, and tried a number of remedies, none has relieved me until I tried Dr. McBride's "King of Pain," which has done me more good than all the other remedies I have tried.

DR. J. J. M'BRIDE,

TELLS YOUR DISEASE WITHOUT ASKING ANY QUESTIONS!

A CARD.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16, 1869.

DR. McBRIDE—My Dear Sir: For the last six or seven years I have been afflicted with rheumatic pains, from my knees down, embracing all the joints of ankle and toes. These pains have come upon me periodically every year, about this season of the year. My knees and ankles, and toe joints, and my wrists and finger joints would swell and leave me in the most agonizing pain, known only to those who have suffered from this dread malady. These pains would continue for a period of from three to four months every year, and they have been regular, unfailing annual visitors. I have been accustomed to apply for relief to the best citizens of San Francisco, and have not failed to use all the popular remedies known to the public. I would sometimes receive temporary relief, after long continued application, but it would never fail to return in a few days with increased severity.

About two weeks ago, while my pains were upon me, I saw you at the corner of one of our streets, and heard what you said about your "King of Pain." I confess that I listened to you with deep distrust; indeed, I may say that I did not believe your statements. "Still," thought I, "it's only a dollar, and I'll patronize the 'humbug' one dollar's worth." I bought a bottle and tried it first on my knee, which was fearfully swollen, and from which I suffered very severely. The second night I tried it again, and my dear Doctor, you can judge of my surprise, ecstacy and delight, altogether, when I found on rising the second morning, that my pains were entirely gone, and the swelling entirely disappeared. My knee joints were as supple as when I was young. I actually danced with delight, much to the amusement of my friends, who had been in the habit of regarding me as a decrepid old rheumatic. It has now been two weeks, and I have not felt the least symptom of return. I believe I am cured, and I feel so grateful to you that I offer you this statement, verified by my oath, to be used by you in whatever way you may think proper, and I feel it a duty to let others similarly afflicted know where they can find relief.

I am, yours, very truly, RAPHAEL LOOKAYSE.

State of California, city and county of San Francisco. On this 16th day of October, 1869, personally appeared before me, a Justice of the Peace in and for the city and county of San Francisco aforesaid, Raphael Lookayse, known to me to be the person who signed the foregoing letter, and who being by me duly sworn, deposes and says the contents thereof are true.

T. W. TALIAFERRO, Justice of the Peace.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Grateful for the eminent services of Dr. J. J. McBride, I cheerfully make a statement of the following facts: For twelve months I had suffered from prostration of my nervous system, resulting in partial paralysis and almost total loss of sight. A score of physicians had abandoned my case as hopelessly incurable. I had even heard my days numbered by doctors and friends. In the agonies of my neuralgic pain, I sought the great "King of Pain." Under that benign influence, in one-half hour I had obtained more medical aid than I had known for long, weary months. My sight was so much restored that I could read print, although I had needed a guide to find Dr. McBride's office an hour before. Before leaving him I had regained the use of my almost palsied limbs, and seemingly my strength had returned; while all those aches and pains, my constant companions, were dissipated and gone. It is now ten days since I undertook treatment with Dr. McBride, and I can say unhesitatingly that I am restored as I could not have expected to have been in so little time. My eyesight is most perfectly regained, my whole physical system corrected and in undoubted health.

My residence is in Reading. I do business at No. 65 Cambridge street, in this city, where I will willingly vouch in person for the truth of the foregoing to any one interested.

THOS. T. GREENWOOD.

P. S. I have done business in this city for twenty years. Thousands of citizens know me.—T. T. G.
